This list, and those on the following two pages, contain 300 of the words considered most important to sight reading. It is intended primarily as an instructional aid for English Language Arts accelerated reading instruction however it has also proven valuable for keyboarding and typing practice in Business Office Skills classrooms.

The presentation format is set to encourage and reinforce left-to-right and top-to-bottom reading and keyboarding activities of English-format manuscripts and documents. To facilitate visual recognition, the lists are also provided in Times New Roman and Arial / Helvetica, the two type faces most commonly used in publications
