BREAKFAST AS USUAL: How Could We Have Made a Difference?

What happened to the days of barn raisings?

Are they just memories of a different time, or has society in general become too distant to care about their neighbors or community? Maybe we have become afraid to ask for help, because we find to do so a sign of weakness.

Whatever the reasons, we had a family in our community, due to a health emergency, in dire financial need.

Did you know about this? If not, you're not alone.

We here at the OrangeVale Country Journal have a firm commitment to this community,... the reason this paper exists. It is not just about advertising local merchants and classified ads, but an opportunity to serve and support our community.

Had we had known about this family's plight, we could have published their story. Even on short notice, we could have posted the story on our web site. We want not only to hear about your concerns, successes, and garage sales - We want stories that connect us as a community and as neighbors.

Help us reclaim the sense of community of days gone by, even if all one has to offer is a kind word or a cup of coffee.

We all need a helping hand from time to time, and there are others willing to extend that hand. We want to do our part by bringing the two together.

Internet Safety Forum At Twin Lakes Elementary

An Internet Safety forum will be presented by FBI Special Agent James Harris and Assistant U.S. Attorney Laurel White at Twin Lakes Elementary. This forum offers parents insight and education into keeping their children safe involving the internet. The forum will be held Tuesday, April 8th at 7 pm.

"The Internet offers nearly endless education, entertainment and social networking options for kids. But the Internet can also be a place where scammers and sexual predators use chat rooms, instant messaging, online gaming, and other means to contact youngsters and to send them inappropriate, illegal, and even dangerous solicitations. Come listen to law enforcement experts who can provide you with information on how better to ensure your child's safety on the Internet."

This presentation is geared towards the parents of 4th, 5th, and 6th grade students. Twin Lakes Elementary School is located at 5515 Main Ave in Orangevale.
